A GRAND CELEBRATION

Silver Anniversary of the Mighty G. A. R. Fittingly Observed.

GRAND PARADE AND CAMPFIRE

Thousands of People Witness the Parade. A Long Line of Distinguished Officials. Both Civil and Military—Many Bands and Posts—On the Reviewing Stand—Ogleby, Fifer, Veazy, and Others Speak.

The grand celebration of the silver anniversary was a fitting observance of the birthday of such a mighty organization as the Grand Army of the Republic. More than that it was a celebration which might be expected when held under the auspices of such a department as Illinois. Men who stand at the head in the state government, men who stand in the very front rank of the Grand Army of the Republic, came together in Decatur and bowed their heads near the birth place of the order—the mightiest patriotic and benevolent institution the world has ever known.

In the city were officials and men of note by the score. But they seemed to be lost in the vast multitude of people that came to witness and take part in the celebration. Thousands, yes, tens of thousands gathered in our little city, and helped to make the 25th birthday of the Grand Army one of the memorable days of the city's history.

THE PARADE
was the first exercise in the celebration under the auspices of the state department. It was not so long, perhaps as others, but it was as notable. One count showed that there were 4,000 men in line. There were 33 different organizations, besides 12 or 15 open carriages. The line of march already printed here was followed as closely as possible. The parade formed near the opera house, marched out West Main, turned to Prairie and came back to Water, passed the reviewing stand in the north-west corner of Central park.

Chief Marshal G. R. Steele headed the parade followed by Goodman's band. After that came Dutham post, acting as escort for the distinguished citizens and officers in carriages. In the first carriage were Gov. Fifer, Commander-in-Chief Veazy, Ex-Governor Ogleby, and Gen. Jack Burst. Following in the carriages were the different staff officers, state and national officers. As the carriages reached the reviewing stand the gentlemen therein dismounted and took places on the stand.

This was the order of the parade:
Grand Marshal Steele.
Goodman's band.
Dutham post, 141.
Sixteen carriages.
Commander Dutham and staff.
Banner of Illinois dept.

The parade was half an hour passing a giving point. The delegates of the W. R. C. state department were formed in a double line in front of the reviewing stand.

ON THE STAND
was a notable group of men, among whom were the following:

Governor Fifer, Secretary of State I. N. Pearson, Attorney General Hunt, Auditor Pavey, State Treasurer Wilson and Col. H. G. Reeves, the governor's private secretary.

Martin.

THE MAMMOTH CAMP FIRE.

Thousands Hear Striking Words in the Big Tent.

The love feast at night was an immense affair. It was held in the big tent at the corner of South Water and Wood streets. The tent had no ring at all, but there were enough people present to keep a dozen rings busy.

The exercises began with music by Goodman's band. The band played a medley made up of several airs that were used frequently during the war by the boys in blue. This made the crowd cheer in the wildest kind of fashion.

MAJOR NEVANS
gave an imitation of the battle of Gettysburg on the snare drum. He has given the imitation at a dozen or more important soldier gatherings. He was loudly cheered. And then the Paris glee club sang "Marching Through Georgia," the great audience joining in the chorus. It sounded as if there were 60,000 present.

HOW TO GET IN
was the question that now bothered Mayor Kanan and George R. Steele. These two men were on the platform, but several of those who held important places on the program were not. How in the world were they to get through the crowd? Those who had the program in charge could not solve the problem, and there was serious anxiety for awhile.

The exercises of the program proper began at 8 o'clock with an overture by Goodman's band.

DEPARTMENT CHAPLAIN MOORE
then offered the opening prayer, in which he asked God to continue to shower down blessings on the old soldiers, and their children after them.

THE DECATUR GLEE CLUB
next rendered "For Grandmother Told Me So." This got the crowd in the best possible humor. The club was encored and gave "We Have drunk from the Same Cup." This was cut short by the entrance of Private Joe, whose appearance set the crowd to cheering. Uncle Dick and Commander Dutham came in at the same time and got many calls from the audience.

MAYOR KANAN
then came forward and as mayor of the city extended a welcome to the visiting commanders and comrades.

COL. DUTHAM
made the response. He was thankful for the cordial welcome that had been extended by all the people of Decatur. He said: "We are proud of our orders. We have not forgotten the old days on the battlefields, and this is because of the Grand Army. It is our object to cultivate acquaintance and friendship. We have 500,000 members. We shall carry good opinions of you to our homes."

MISS EMMA REESE
daughter of Capt. Reibsame of Bloomington, sang a solo, "The Star Spangled Banner." The young lady is a good singer, and this with her theme electrified the audience.

UNCLE DICK OGLEBY
now came to the front of the platform to make an address of welcome to Dutham Post. He was cheered and talked at familiarly for two or three minutes. Among other things he said: "You would not be so cheerful if you knew what I have in store for you. I have a heavy responsibility. I am seriously impressed with these services tonight. I hope you are all as deeply impressed as my trembling comrades of Dutham Post. This post wishes to extend to every representative and comrade more than formal words of welcome. We give you a cheerful and hearty welcome. Comrades, with my voice so feeble that it cannot reach the ear when it ought to reach the heart, I welcome you. Words of welcome are inadequate, but our hearts have already spoken to each other. You are as plain today as when you went forth 30 years ago. You had then made no impression on this world. You then had no more learning than love of God, your country and your flag. You might not grasp the questions that were then agitating our statesmen, but you had sense enough to respond to your country's call. I can not imagine the pure and lofty spirit that made you leave home for the appalling theatre of war. You knew nothing of constitutional history in 1861, my boys. But you went forth as though you understood it all. Have you forgotten what moved you 30 years ago?"

"We talk dippantly about all that now. Many ask what it was that made you go forth; they can not see that you have greater intelligence than others. Our neighbors are perplexed when they look upon us and wonder what could have been in that boy's heart. Pardon me if I now speak and answer for you. You could not measure the importance of the questions. It was patriotism that made you go forth. Patriotism is love of humanity, of the flag, of God and good government. But I have never been able to gather up the full impulse that moved you. Whatever liberty may be it was fully comprehended by the private soldier. I owe it to you to write a few poor words in your behalf. Somehow or other you understood that liberty was in danger, and your conscience moved you to move out upon the theatre of war. Government has no liberty unless its worth be imbedded in the hearts of the common people."

"There never was in the hearts of the northern people any hatred for the south. Continued on the Eight Page.

Pockets Picked.

Mrs. Mary W. Shearman, of Elgin, lost her pocket book as she was coming from the opera house Tuesday night. Her pocket was picked in the crowd at the entrance. The purse contained two tickets from Chicago to Elgin, a ticket from Decatur to Chicago, and $8 in money.

A lady from Kenosha, Wis., here to attend the Relief Corps' convention [was] bodily robbed at the European hotel yesterday. She was being shown to a room upstairs. In the hall way two young men crowded against her. At her room she found that her pocket book had been taken from her pocket. It was a valuable pocketbook and contained a ticket to Chicago, a commutation ticket from Chicago to Kenosha, and $25 or $30 in money.

Every body, and especially women, should be careful about carrying valuables. Many invite robbery by displaying pocket books and jewelry where it can be easily seen and taken. Most of the robberies are committed on people who are careless.

Here & There.

James Hipps, of Belleville, Ill., is visiting friends in the city. Mr. Hipps has been a commanding general in the ranks of the Order of Old Bachelors, and Cupid becoming jealous of his winning ways, courtly manner and handsome face, sent his love tinted arrow through his heart with the result of compelling Mr. Hipps to surrender unconditionally to a beautiful and captivating young lady of Belleville, and their lives and fortunes will be united in a few weeks.

The Review hopes that the genial gentleman and his bride-to-be may have long and pleasant sailing through the sea of conjugal bliss and the channels of matrimony, and in this hope the many friends of the gentleman in this city will heartily join. Mr. Hipps is the guest of Engineer Frank M. Bloom, on East Eldorado street.

The Fakirs attering Them In.

The city was full of fakirs yesterday, of all kinds, and one fellow on the levee was making money as rapidly almost as a mint. His scheme was to wrap a $1 or $5 bill around a stick of candy, then put several of such wrapped sticks on the table before him and sold them to the crowd at $1 a stick, the purchaser having a chance of course, to get $2 or $3 with the candy he bought. No one made money out of the scheme for some reason except the man selling, and just how long he would have succeeded in winning victims can only be imagined, as Officer Koeppe happened along that way and ordered the fakir to desist, if he would escape prosecution and arrest.

The M. U. in Decatur.

The inveterate, sneaking, treacherous, back stabbing natives of Italy did some of their nefarious work in this city yesterday and while they did not hit anyone in the back themselves, they caused the sidewalk to do so, and to do it in such a manner as it would knock the starch out of any backbone. It was No. 1000 Banana Peel and his assistants sick villains that they are who tripped up our citizens and filled the spinal columns of some of our visitors with pain. The Italian must go.

Amusements Next Week.

Three first class attractions are booked for the Grand opera house next week.

Wednesday evening, April 15, the sweet singer, Charles A. Gartner, appears in his famous German comedy, "Fatherland."

Thursday evening, April 16, the famous actress Maggie Mitchell, supported by her own excellent company will present "Ray."

Saturday evening April 16th, the new sensational drama "Kidnapped," will be given.

Officers Installed.

Decatur lodge No. 65, I. O. O. F., has installed officers as follows:

N. G.—Thomas Kitchen

V. G.—Brad Cro

R. S.—I. N. Martin Jr

P. S.—A. Bauer

Treasurer—M. Eichinger

L. W. Friberg was elected representative to the Grand lodge for two years. It meets at Springfield in November.

Dropped Dead.

News was received in this city yesterday that Mrs. Elias Workman, well known here, dropped dead on the street in Sullivan Heart disease is supposed to have been the trouble. She leaves a husband and three children.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours," said Commodore Perry thus telling the story of the battle of Lake Erie. And it is also a fact that the little enough syrup is no sooner used than the cold is conquered and the cough disappears.

Grimes' Cellar Door.

We all enjoy a good hearty laugh mixed with bright, catchy music, and such will be the bill at the opera house, when James B. Mackie's new, musical burlesque, "Grimes' Cellar Door," will be seen here for the first time. "Mackie's Salvation Army," "The Triplets," Mackie's topical song, "The Rats Have Got Him Now," Miss Louise Sanford's new specialty and the great Manhattan quartette, are strong features that never fail to score hits and are always endorsed to the echo.

STRAY SCRAPS

Attorney J. J. Finn went to Chicago last night. Capt. A. J. Smith of Jacksonville is a visitor.

The county offices were closed yesterday afternoon.

Jacob Koehler, of Bloomington, is visiting Decatur relatives.

Editor John Lindsay took a change for the week yesterday.

C. W. Green, of the Clinton Register, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. R. Peake is entertaining Miss Cora Bonnie, of Cincinnati, O.

The street sprinkler did some effective service on the streets yesterday.

Miss Belle Bean, of Clayton, is visiting Mrs. Laura Foster, of this city.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, 725 North Broadway, April 9, a son.

W. B. Ballard of the Wabash was on the city special police force yesterday.

The Western Union office has secured three additional operators from Chicago.

Mrs. Joseph B. Smallwood is enjoying a visit from her sister, Miss Cora Floyd, of Mt. Zion.

Mrs. I. P. Black is enjoying a visit from her sister, Miss Fetha Dickey, of Shelbyville.

Richard Waigelin and daughter, Miss Wanda, of Belleville, are guests at the residence of G. R. Steele.

George H. Jones received word yesterday that his father was dangerously sick, and he left for Centralia last evening.

Mrs. S. C. Toot has returned from Memphis, Tenn., and is again the guest of J. S. Adams and family on West Main street.

C. F. Atwood agent for Maggie Mitchell, was in the city yesterday. Maggie will appear here in "Ray" the night of April 16th.

Mr. Hall, living on South Church street, had a fall yesterday by which he was badly bruised. Dr. H. D. Heil waited on him after he had been taken home.

So intense was the interest felt in the competitive drill yesterday that all the cars on the city lines were pressed into service to carry spectators to the trotting park.

W. I. McMullin of Lexington, was in the city last night, enroute home from Mt. Zion where he attended the wedding of his niece, Miss Nora Black, and George Traubner.

The show windows of Miss Williams' millinery establishment on the south side of the new park are veritable bowers of beauty, specially prepared for the delectation of visitors.

Some of the folks homeward bound last night tried faithfully to get Baggageman Milt Bivens to "check" their "bags" to their homes for them while others carried theirs joyfully with them.

Never was the total inadequacy of the gang plank depot so fully realized as yesterday and last night. People stood fairly packed in doors and out almost as closely as sardines in a box.

It was a remarkable well behaved crowd that thronged the streets yesterday, all seeming to be imbued with the one idea— to give pleasure and to be pleased. Both objects were attained.

F. P. Black issued a handsomely illustrated silver anniversary edition of The Journal yesterday. It is a splendid mirror in which are reflected the different pushing, energetic business men of the city.

The show windows of the new firm of Downing & Waggoner, are not only works of beauty but of art also, and the taste displayed in making up the exhibit of foot gear cannot but attract the passers by.

Three or four little boys were lost in the crowd yesterday and their disappearance caused a great deal of annoyance and uneasiness. They were good little boys—the only kind of little boys, to whom anything awful happens, but they had not become real bad, fortunately before they were found.

One Way of Looking at It.

Yesterday some effervescent republicans were poking fun at Judge Wilson, the state treasurer, because of the result in Chicago, and what they called the "frightful falling off" of democratic votes in that city. He bore their chaffing good naturedly for a time, then remarked: "If you will study the figures a little you will see that we came very nearly electing two democratic majors in Chicago."

Our Visitors Pleased.

The city of Decatur has done well, both in beautifying the city for the reception of the G. A. R. and in the expense and trouble has been well repaid in the numerous pleasing and laudatory expressions one could hear on all sides yesterday and last night from our visitors. They were pleased and gratified that all this should be done for them, and Decatur is gratified that they like their reception.

Husband and Wife.

Have more than once been saved by the timely use of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, after all other remedies have been tried in vain. The balsam stops decay of the lungs and cures influenza and acute and chronic coughs. There is no other medicine in the world that acts so promptly, certainly none that does its work so thoroughly as Kemp's Balsam. All druggists sell it. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.

A LUDICROUS SITUATION.

Laughable Incident in a Mordent, Ont., Church.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 8.—A young lady, evidently a stranger, while seated in church at Mordent Sunday, accidentally let her handkerchief fall on the floor. By repeatedly stooping to reach it, she attracted the notice of a gentleman in the pew behind, who thought she was about to faint. With the best of motives, therefore, he took her gently under the arms and raised her up, ready to her surprise. As she tried to release herself another gentleman went to her assistance, and before the lady knew what was the matter, they were moving her out into the aisle.

Too Much Astonished to Protest.

Naturally she was too astonished to find words to protest, and they managed to half carry, half lead her some distance when she directed an appealing look to another gentleman in a pew, as if asking him to help also. He too, promptly rose from his seat and helped lift her up, and carry her gently to the outside where mutual explanations exposed the ludicrousness of the situation.

Cases of Executive Clemency.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 8.—The president yesterday disposed of the following cases presented for executive clemency:

In sentence of Peter McHugh of Wisconsin to one year's imprisonment for violation of the internal revenue law is commuted to eight months imprisonment.

Morton Howell of Indiana sentenced daily 1, 1889, to five years imprisonment for forgery, sentence commuted to expire July 13, 1891.

George W. Mowery, of Indiana for passing counterfeit money, and sentence of July 13, 1890 to two years and six months imprisonment commuted to expire May 1891.

Nel on W. Reynolds, of Indiana sentenced to pay $1 and costs for instant carrying cigars without payment of special tax pardoned.

AND STILL THEY COME

Another New Religious Sect Discovered in Michigan.

PORT HURON, Mich., April 8.—The bling of articles of association by the "New House of Israel or the Living Temple," at the county clerk's office led to the discovery of a new religious sect Tuesday.

The object, as told by the articles, is to gather into one fold the twelve tribes of Israel scattered abroad, the time being now come for their restoration and redemption. The organization has four men and four women pillars as they are called. George H. Sutton is first male "pillar" and Edna Sutton first female "pillar."

Edna Sutton a long haired individual, unpossessing in appearance says: "We have both the law and the gospel while Jews have only the law and the churches the gospel." Sutton's "pillars" believe the Jews are soon to be gathered in one place that they will be cleansed and inhabit the earth and the others will be their servants. This church has twelve members.

Hawley on Coast Defenses.

HARTFORD Conn., April 8.—Senator Hawley addressed the board of trade Tuesday on the weakness of our coast defenses. He reviewed the deeds of the American navy in former times and criticized the indifference of the people in the matter of adequate defense. The recent complications with Italy showed he said the rapidity with which trouble might come. He pointed out the fact that Halifax was a continual menace to our unprotected coast for England, in case of war, would assemble her fleet there, and in a few days could bombard both New York and Boston. He said the cost of effective coast defenses would be about $125,000,000, but that it would be extended over a term of years and the investment would prove wise in all respects.

Many Wives.

Col. Robert G. Ingersoll is apt in stories, and some of them have become famous. He is never at a loss for a good story to illustrate any point. Not long ago a group of gentlemen, in which the colonel was the central figure, were discussing people who have a knack of saying the right thing at the wrong time. The colonel said: "I can illustrate that by relating a case in point which occurred in a Western state. A well to do merchant, Mr. Thompson, living in a town noted for its malaria and funerals, whenever his wife died would go into an adjoining county and marry again. He had married his fourth wife and taken her to the malaria town to enjoy quinine and domestic felicity, when, as the novelists say, this story begins. A loquacious lady in the healthy county was in the habit of assisting Mr. Thompson to find some eligible young woman willing to marry him and take her chances. Some six months after he married his fourth wife he appeared again in the healthy county. The loquacious lady greeted him and said: "How is your wife, Mr. Thompson?" "She is dead," he replied sadly. "What, dead again?" cried the loquacious woman in surprise.—New York World.

And It Stopped.

She was very deliberate about stopping a Woodward avenue car, and still more so about getting aboard, and when she handed the conductor a nickel she said: "I want to go—to go—to get off at"— "He wanted, but she seemed worn out with exertion and didn't finish. When the car had proceeded about a mile from the city hall she beckoned to the conductor and said: "Conductor, I wish you to stop the car on the down side of the street." "Yes'm."

Things rolled along as before until the car had made another mile, when she beckoned again and asked: "Conductor, are we very near Elizabeth street?" "Elizabeth, W'h'y, ma'am, you got on only one block below Elizabeth, and have been going away from it ever since!" "Very well then—I will get off—get off!"

He stood with his hand on the bell rope, waiting for her to finish, but she took her time about it and rode another block and a half before finishing.

"Get off here, I guess. You may alarm the driver and stop the car!"—Detroit Free Press.

Divided Up.

Sweet Girl (with many admirers)—I've been taken out sleigh riding twenty three times this winter.

Practical Father (meditatively)—Twenty three times? Two hundred and thirty dollars if a cent. My dear, do you really think you are worth all that expenditure?

Sweet Girl—Oh, it wasn't much for each one, you know. There were twenty-three of them.—New York Weekly.

SODA FOR TWO

We know That It Happens Every Day. A Drug Store.

"It's my turn," she said at the soda counter, taking out a little purse.

"No it's mine," said her friend, rummaging in her pocket where she found a small shabby pocketbook, what will it take?"

"What you do?"

"Then I'll have soda cream."

"So'll I."

"Two sodas cream please to the clerk. Oh wait a minute. Wouldn't rather have ginger ale. Min'."

Hum mm. Lemme see. I better rummer."

"I don't know," the druggist said, "makes my head ache. I suppose we chocolate soda Min'."

"All right then. That will be nice."

Then they chattered like young magpies. Is there a black spot on my face, I?"

"But you manage your spot so much better. Mine gets in my eye."

"Here's our chocolate. Now put your purse. This is my treat."

"Well if you won't let me, but I ought etc., etc."

There is a surging silence and another dime has been squandered.—Detroit Free Press.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 8.—Wheat opened strong with May at $1.04, an advance of 1/8c on the closing price of Monday. There was heavy buying on advice that the price of wheat would advance.
